Let's skip ahead.

1993: DOOM

“I did this 'cause Linux gives me a woody. It doesn't generate revenue. Please don't call or write us with bug reports. They cost us money, and I get sorta ragged on for wasting my time on UNIX ports anyway.”

-Dave Taylor, README.linux

1999: Loki Software

To Loki Games resellers

After 3 wonderful years, Loki will be indefinitely suspending operations on January 31.

We understand that many of you have come to rely, at least in part, on reselling Loki products. In order to protect your ongoing business, we are granting you the first opportunity to purchase our existing inventory.

All orders are subject to the following:

- Effective immediately, Loki will no longer offer end user technical support for any of its products
- All purchases must be paid in full at the time of shipping
- All sales are final
- All shipping costs will be paid by the purchaser

Remember that after January 31 these products will no longer be available anywhere.

Please feel free to contact me or Yvonne at 714-505-8915 x21 if you have any questions.

Thank you all for your support and for three great years!

Kind regards,

Scott Draeker

“The kicker is that if the deal reaches $1,000,000 of total donations, the source code to all the games will become available.”

–The Wolfire crew

“Whatever you say.”

–My internal monologue.

How did we do?

- 1,273,588 dollars.
- ~166k to each developer (~833k total)
- ~183k to the EFF
- ~188k to Child's Play

Flash in the Pan

- Humble Indie Bundle 1: 1.2 million
- Humble Indie Bundle 2: 1.8 million
- Humble Indie Bundle 3: 2.16 million
- Humble Indie Bundle 4: 2.37 million
- Humble Indie Bundle 5: 5.1 million

Linux users:
~25% of revenue.

Then this happened.

STEAM™

Then this happened.

Steam for Linux

- Full support for Steamworks features
- SteamPlay
- Over 500 games currently...
- ...700+ by end of year?

Then THIS happened.
